

Has Jesus Christ Truly Appeared in the Sky or Is His Return Being Misrepresented?

Sixbert SANGWA • May 23, 2024

In recent times, claims have been circulating that Jesus Christ has appeared in the sky, accompanied by supposed images and messages. These claims have permeated various societal spheres, reaching a level of ubiquity that warrants a considered response. It is crucial to interpret such occurrences in light of the teachings of the Scriptures. This article aims to shed light on the topic and address the attempts to deceive people with fabricated images and messages that deviate from biblical teachings.

If you have heard or seen such occurrences, understand that these images and associated narratives are fabrications designed to divert believers from the true path. These distractions starkly contrast with the Scriptural descriptions of divine manifestations and the prophesied return of Christ.

The Rapture and the Second Coming:

It is important to distinguish between two significant events related to Jesus Christ's return: the Rapture and His Second Coming. The Rapture, as described in 1 Thessalonians 4:13-18 and 1 Corinthians 15:51-58, refers to the moment when Jesus will come in secret to gather His saved people. Only those who have accepted Him as their Savior will see and hear Him, being caught up to meet Him in the air. This event will happen swiftly, in the twinkling of an eye, and will not be accompanied by grandiose sky manifestations. In Jesus' own words, the event will happen in a moment, just as the lightning comes from the east and flashes as far as the west (Matthew 24:27). This means that any earthly manifestations claiming to represent this event are completely out of place.

On the other hand, the Second Coming of Jesus Christ will occur after a period of tribulation, when He returns to defeat the forces of darkness and establish His Millennial kingdom. As stated in Revelation 1:7, during His Second Coming, all eyes will see Him, even those who pierced Him. People will witness His glory, and some will experience fear and remorse, realizing the gravity of their actions.

Deceptive Manifestations and Antichrist Plans:

In today's world, characterized by technological advancements and geopolitical unrest, it is easier than ever for deceptions to take root. The rise of global communication networks and the ability to manipulate media can lead many astray. It has come to our attention that some clandestine groups may be preparing high-tech manifestations, using advanced technology to project images of Jesus and angels in the sky. These fabricated spectacles are designed to confuse and deceive, aligning with the works of the Antichrist. As Paul cautioned in 2 Thessalonians 2:9-10, "The coming of the lawless one is by the activity of Satan with all power and false signs and wonders, and with all wicked deception for those who are perishing."

These plans involve projecting images of Jesus and angels blowing trumpets on screens installed in the air. It is crucial to understand that these manifestations are not of Christ but rather schemes of the Antichrist. When you see such manifestations, don't go there, don't pay any attention to such Antichrist plans. Don't welcome anyone who will be portrayed as Jesus lest you welcome the Antichrist. We warn you, brothers and sisters, that one morning we may hear and see people blowing trumpets in the air.

We must remember Jesus' warning against such deception, stating in Matthew 24:23, "If anyone says to you, 'Look, here is the Christ!' or 'There He is!' do not believe it." These false manifestations and claims contradict the true nature of Christ's return and seek to draw people astray, making a mockery of His promises in this apostate world.

The Rapture, a Mystery:

The event of the Rapture, as described by the apostle Paul, is referred to as a mystery (1 Corinthians 15:51). It will occur instantaneously, and no radar or satellite can detect it. Jesus is clear that His sheep will hear His voice and follow Him (John 10:27-28). Only those who belong to Christ, His faithful followers, will hear His voice and be caught up to meet Him. This implies that any attempts to imitate the Rapture through grandiose sky manifestations are baseless and misleading.

The Warning and Discernment:

In Matthew 24:28, Jesus advises, "Wherever the carcass is, there the vultures will gather." When false manifestations and claims arise, portraying someone as Jesus, it is crucial not to be swayed or deceived by them. We must exercise caution and refrain from welcoming anyone who is portrayed as Jesus, for we do not want to unknowingly welcome the Antichrist.

The Wise and the Bewildered:

During these prophetic events, many people will be bewildered and unable to recognize the true meaning behind the unfolding occurrences. The Apostle John makes it clear that those whose names are not written in the Book of Life will remain amazed by the authority given to the beast by the dragon, as described in Revelation 13:8. Prophet Daniel (12:10) echoes the same words that "many shall purify themselves and make themselves white and be refined, but the wicked shall act wickedly. And none of the wicked shall understand, but those who are wise shall understand." This wisdom comes from a deep understanding of Scripture and a close relationship with the Lord. In fact, only the wise, those who have been called and selected, will possess the divine knowledge and discernment to see through the deception and understand the truth. Those who belong to God will immediately recognize these manifestations for what they are - a scam. However, those destined for destruction will not be able to discern the truth.

Conclusion:

In a world filled with deceptive influences, it is crucial to remain vigilant and rooted in the teachings of the Bible. Claims of sky manifestations depicting Jesus Christ's return should be met with caution and discernment. The true event of the Rapture will happen suddenly, with only the saved believers hearing His voice and being caught up to meet Him.

As believers in Christ, we look forward to being raptured by Him and wish the same for all our brothers and sisters. This event is imminent, so we must be vigilant. Amid many deceptive schemes, we must remain steadfast because Jesus is close. Let us stand strong, ready for the true trumpet, and may we encourage one another with these words (1 Thessalonians 4:18) as we eagerly await the joyous event of the Rapture. Our Lord is coming!
